Dedication 2008

Diane Guido

The 2008 Hallmark staff would like to dedicate this yearbook to a teacher who has been an invaluable member of the Rowland Hall-St. Mark's community for over a decade. This teacher not only earns the respect of all her students, but also instills in them a love of her subject. Her boundless humor makes every class enjoyable, while her teaching stimulates the frontal, parietal, occipital, and temporal lobes of the brain. Due to the mere exposure effect, we love her more every day, and that is why this yearbook is dedicated to Diane Guido.

How Well do you know Rhsm?

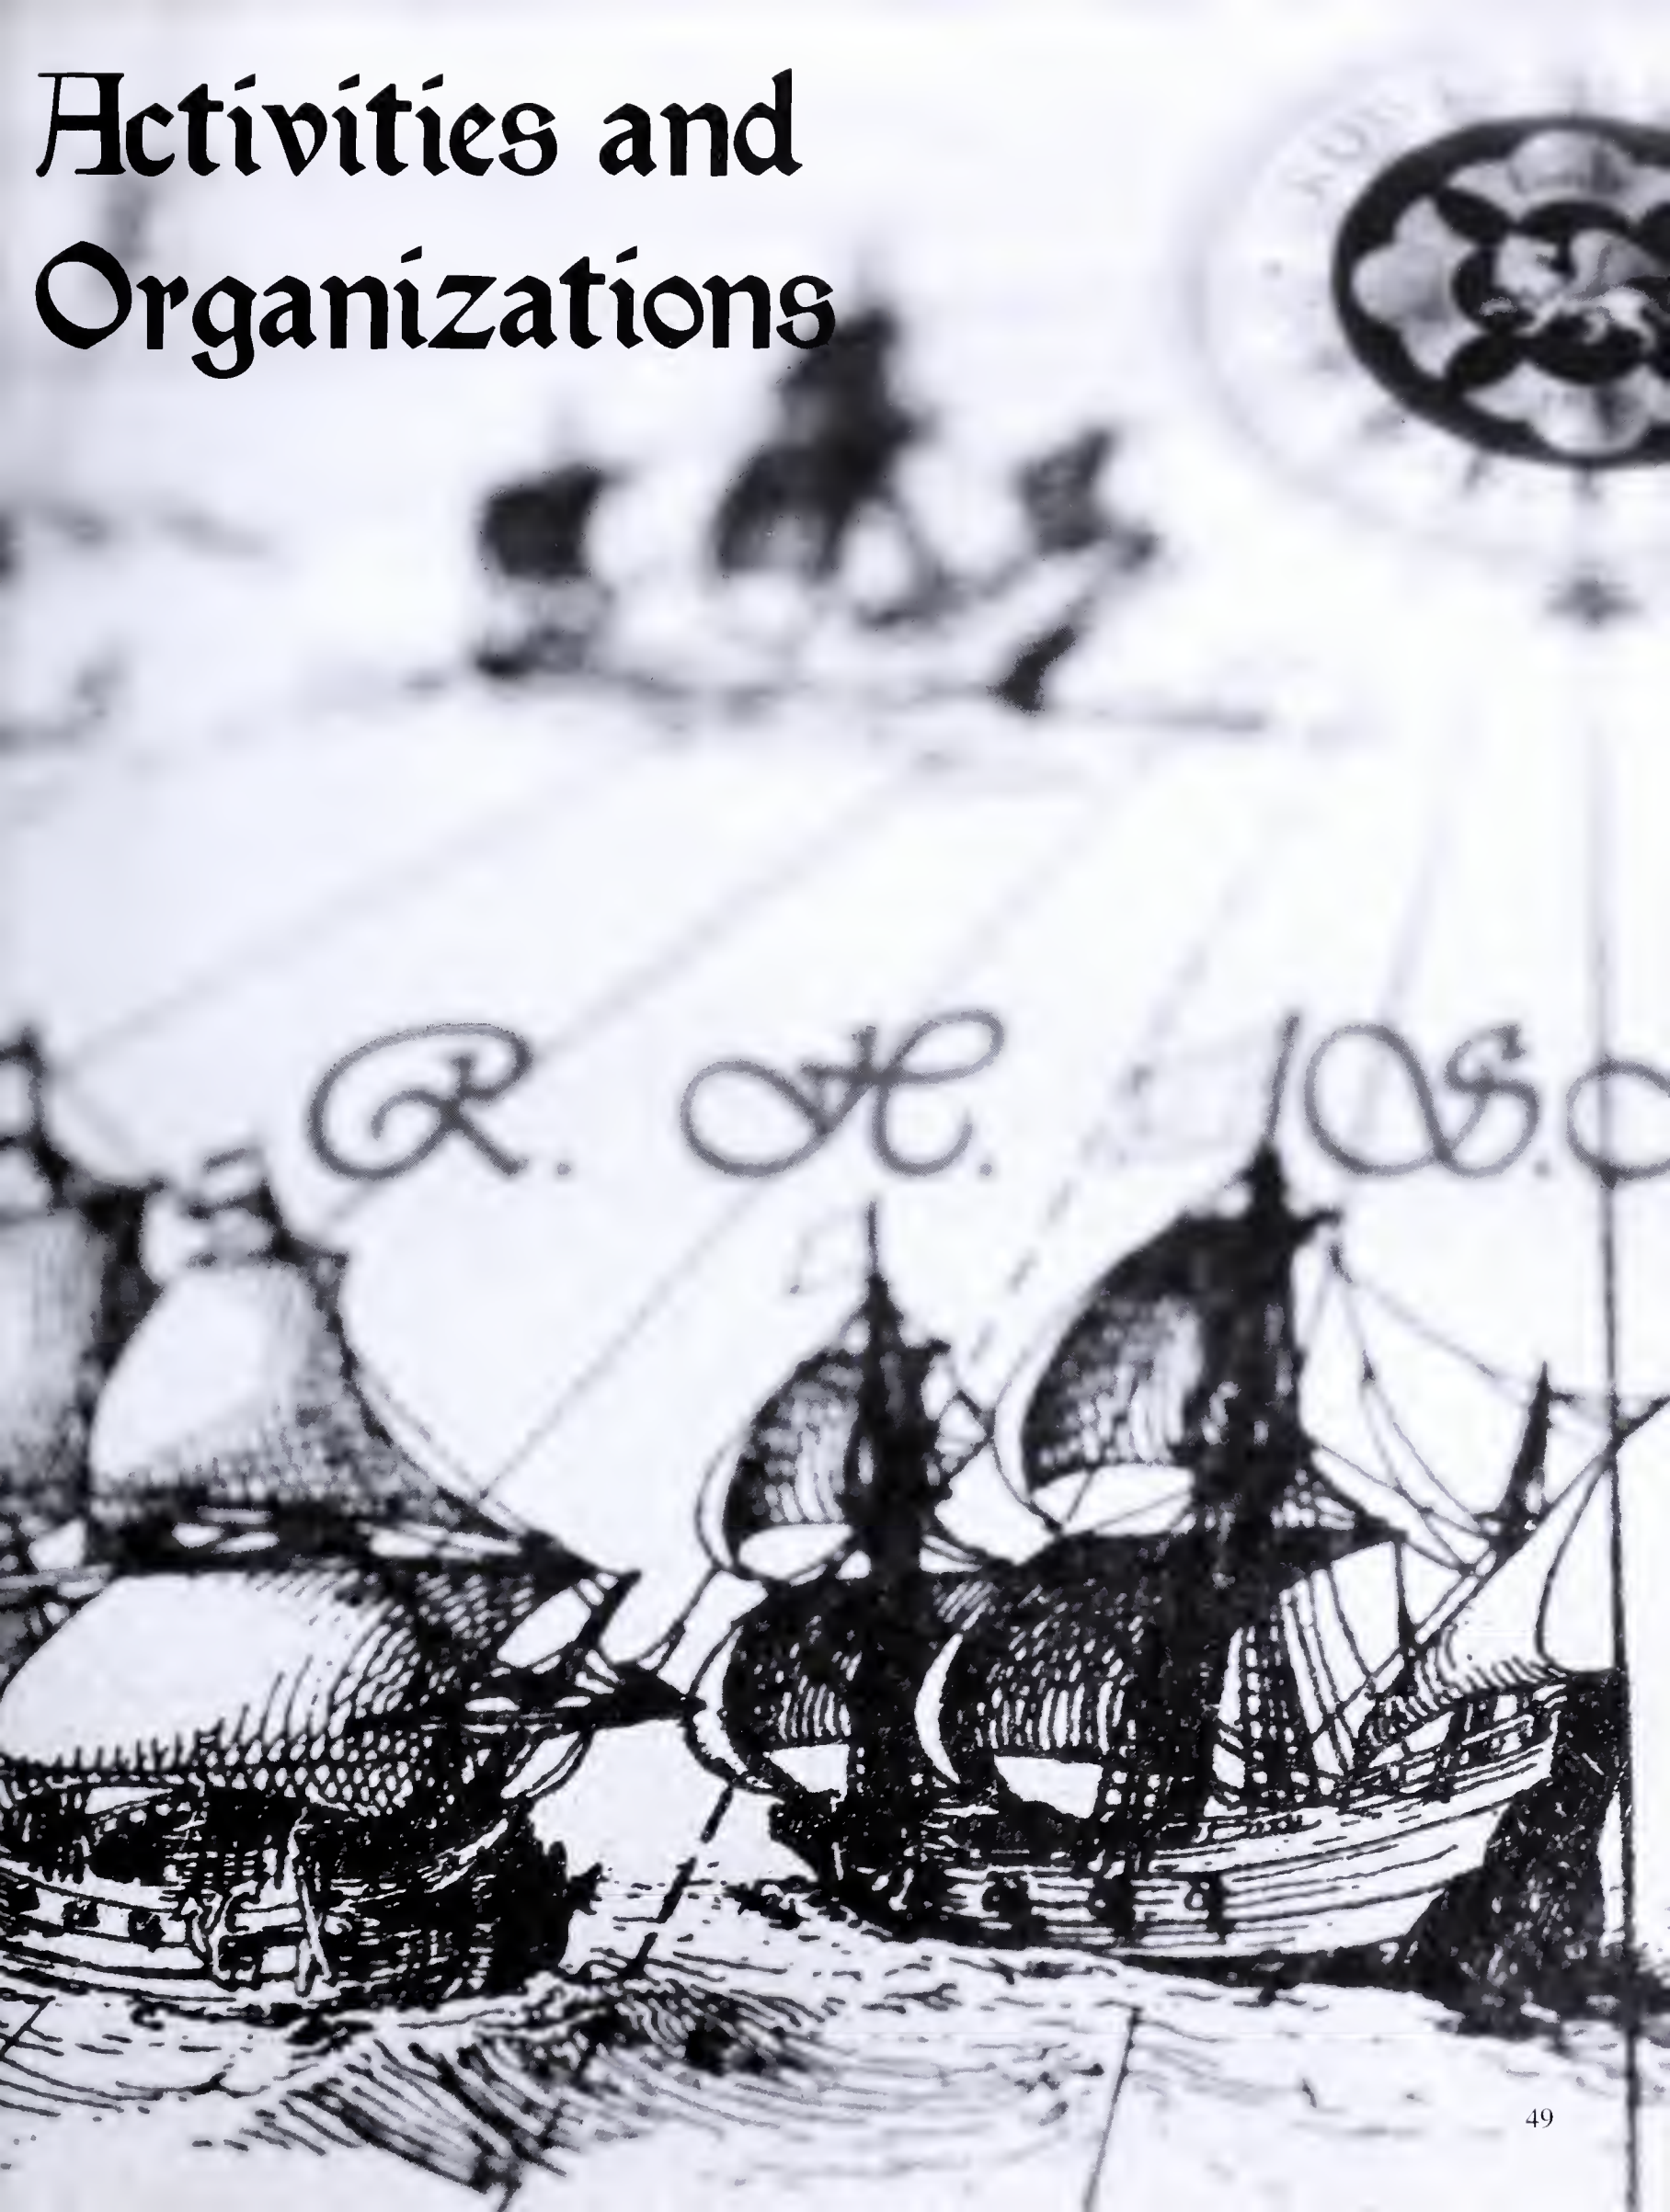

Alternate Uses for Laptops

This year, the education system of RHSM was completely revamped: every student had a laptop. Despite the numerous learning advantages, students found alternate uses for their laptops. From the top row (left to right): Andrew Kircher shows off his highly effective umbrella. A group of seniors (and a sophomore) warm themselves in the cold winter months. Kody Partridge realizes that her laptop does not, in fact, have cellular phone capabilities. Kimi Tran and Lauren Babcock use their laptops as clothing. Laja Field stumbles upon the fact that her computer makes a great pillow. Tasha Woolley and Hillary Dealey-Thomason caress their new baby. Danielle Therson and Jessica Grey have fashionable new hats.

Activities and Organizations

"YEARBOOKS ARE LIKE SAUSAGES. EVERYONE LIKES THEM, BUT NOBODY WANTS TO SEE HOW THEY ARE MADE."

RHSM Media

The Gazette is Rowland Hall-St. Mark's newspaper, but now it can be found in online form at web.mac.com/rhsmmedia. The news program RHSM Today can be found there, chalk full of interesting webisodes, articles and podcasts with Robbie Hull, Erin Armentrout, Mayra Vences, Paige Masuda, Vivian Huynh, Ben Hannon, Donny White, Natasha Woolley, Hillary Dealey-Thomason, Marsh Flint and Campbell Ingle. For a short while, the New Zealanders Becca Richards, Andrew Burns and Nikki Smart were also part of the class.

This year, the students have covered the Presidential primaries, strange weather, the economy, what's hot and what's not, and interviews with several teachers, including Mr. Rob Wilson and the Cafeteria staff. Webisode #2 is notable for the Marmite Challenge that the Kiwis administered.

Zoey Martin-Lockhart is looking over some notes for her next debate. Go Roho!

Mario Feola and Kurt Naro enjoy chilling out in their fun debate class.

This year, the debate team went to over twenty debate tournaments at other schools. Several were out-of-state and against top schools from all across the country. Debate topics this year included the death penalty, giving federal aid to countries in Africa, plea bargains in court trials, and using force to prevent other countries from getting nuclear weapons.

The team did amazingly well in this year's tournaments. In America's second largest tournament, the Blake Tournament in Minneapolis, Rowland Hall- St. Mark's won first place. Congratulations, debate team!

french Club

"Let's french!"

The French Club is just one of the many awesome clubs available at Rowland Hall-St. Mark's. Through fundraising activities like bake and crêpe sales, the club raises money to provide books and school supplies for a school in Togo. Being in French Club means having an awesome time while also learning about French culture. Club parties and activities always keep members entertained!

Saving the world- One school at a time!

Students in Mr. Wilson's sustainability class participated in a number of activities throughout the year, developing a sense of self-awareness and a love for the environment. In addition to completing group projects in all three trimesters, students also must reach out to state politicians and important members of the environmentalist community. Guest speakers constantly visited the class, sharing their enthusiasm and knowledge about the world with students. These kids were also active enforcers of the RHSM's No Idling and Recycling programs.

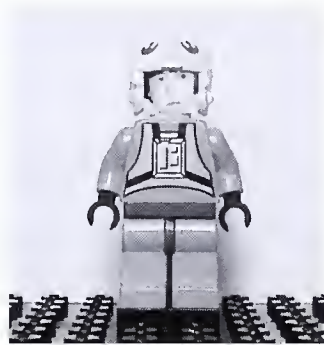

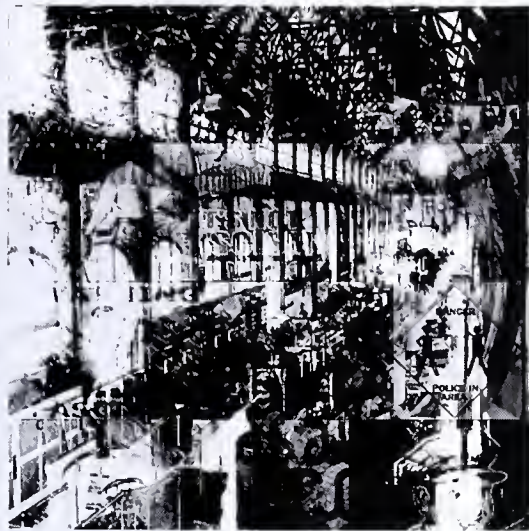

Students in the sustainability class encourage their peers to reduce, reuse and recycle. There are numerous Recycle Stations throughout the school to motivate students to conserve the environment. 9th Grade Every year the 9th Grade Class takes a four-day trip to Kanab Creek in southern Utah. The students put their Biology skills to the test by performing an experiment of their choice along the Kanab River. They also get a tour of the river through the little canyon the river has made. Mr. Hayes teaches the students about the rock formation and the famous Desert Dozen. Mr. Long also has them write about a specific spot at the Sanctuary that they then take back and create a full essay. The 9th Graders have a lot of fun camping out with friends and looking for scorpions on the scorpion hunts at night. Fortunately, the trip wasn't all work. The students also got to play and snowboard on the pink sand dunes of Kanab.

Half Day Whole Heart is Rowland Hall-St. Mark's annual half day of service. All upper school students and faculty participate in one afternoon of volunteer work across the valley. Students volunteered at The Children's Center, the Utah Food Bank, Red Butte Gardens, Ronald McDonald House, Camp Kostopulos, Globus Relief, Neighborhood House, Heart & Soul at the VA Nursing Home, Services for Seniors, The Sharing Place, and Crossroads Thrift Store. Half Day was a great opportunity for RHSM students to give back to the community. Director of Community Service Liz Paige led the effort.

A group of students focus during the speech's beginning.

"Dialogue and Democracy" was a speaking series that was presented by the Upper School English Department and Service Learning Program. Kody Partridge and Liz Paige, who put together this brand new program, brought in various leaders of different groups to discuss issues of science, government, athletics and race. These speakers included Barbara A. Lewis, Kenneth Ward, Karrie Galloway, Gayle Ruzicka, Doug Willmore, Beth Launiere, Helga Shugart and Scott Matheson.

Winter Sports

For Winter Sports this year students were able to choose from skiing, snowboarding, bowling, archery, ice skating, indoor rock climbing, tennis, hiking and tubing, squash, yoga, and community service. Students spent six Friday afternoons in January and February participating in the sport of their choice and learning new skills. Whether students go skiing at Solitude or rock climbing at The Front, Winter Sports continues to be a Rowland Hall-St. Mark's tradition that students look forward to.

With a new Cross Country coach and a new assistant coach, the Cross Country team performed exceptionally well given the inconsistent weather (snow, sun, rain and mud all in one day). During the regional meet, Varsity finished second right behind Juab, while Junior Varsity finished first. Phinehas Bynum placed third in the 5K race, while Wilson Dippo took seventh and Daniel Livsey took eighth. At the State meet, even though the team put up a good fight, they took fourth place, after Juab, Parowan, and Richfield.

The Winged Lions girls' basketball team finished their regular season on February 7, hosting Juab for "Senior Night." RHSM paid tribute to six seniors who provided the girls basketball program with wonderful memories and plenty of hard work. The Lady Winged Lions' season drew to a close at the state-qualifying tournament in Ephraim. The RHSM team kept the number one seed Beaver team on their heels for over three quarters of play. With a three point lead and 7:20 on the clock in the fourth quarter, the Beaver team went on a 8-0 run, distancing themselves from the hard-playing RHSM team.

While the season ended short of the "state" goal, the team had many triumphs to celebrate over the four-month season. Congratulations to the Lady Lions on a fantastic season.

Doors and Windows

Two caring people, from a distant land, took pictures of doors with you, and led you by the hand.

You took the pictures with them, and painted a door for yourself with colors and a pen.

You opened each door, from one place to another, and found new life and added color.

Little Oscar gave you opportunity, and the life you had was changed forever, everything was as it should be.

The windows and doors keep opening, and things are looking good.

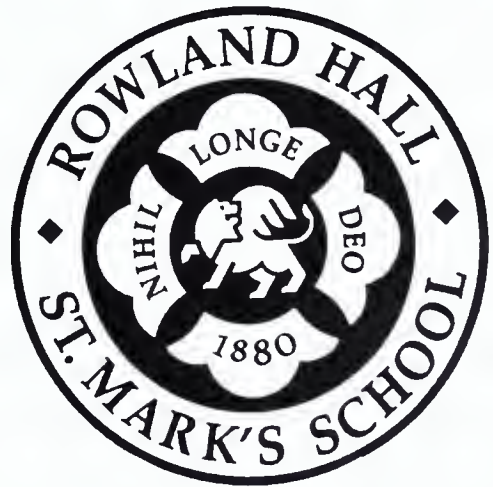

You've done the hard work and lived the struggles,
just as we knew you could.

May you always look clearly through the windows of life,
and may the doors of opportunity open for you.
